THE BOW RIVER CONSTITUENCY CONVENTION

At the Bow River Convention held last week at Strathmore, Mr. A. H. Claypool, M.L.A., gave his views in regard to his supporting the proposed franchise requested for a private owned airfield halfway from Calgary to Banff, at the last session of the Legislature at Edmonton, in which he expressed the point that tourists would be taxed for the use of this roadway.

This was altogether too much for the dourly fighting politician, E. J. Garland, M.P., who is masterfully opposed to private ownership of this character, and supported his contention with an abundance of facts, which to the majority of the delegates present when Mr. Garland had finished, were convinced that the people do not wish any private owned roadway in Alberta.

Mr. Claypool strongly urged those present to vote the amendment of raising a certain amount of livestock to prevent a possible depression in which prices, due to a flooded market, he warned that it cost $1.65 to produce a bushel of wheat, and the margin over cost now was a comparatively narrow one.

Mr. Claypool cited the experience of 1922, when wheat prices were much depressed, and owing to the lack of live stock, live stock prices reached a high point.

Mr. Claypool, in speaking of the road problems, stated that the Alberta Government had spent three million dollars on public roads, which was twenty five per cent. of the provincial revenues.

John C. Bickley, M.L.A., in explaining the reason for the government refusing to grant private ownership of the Banff roadway, stated the point of the possibility of the road becoming unprofitable, failing into disrepair, and the government being forced to take it over.

S. J. Ewing, Provincial Vice Inspector, asked for the loyal support of the local weed inspectors, and the securing of every farmer. He had samples of the infamous sow thistle, which Mr. Ewing stated had caused ruin in many districts in Manitoba.

The weed problem was not a fancied one, but a real menace.

Revere Donkin, of Keoma, acted as chairman, and introduced the speakers.

Quirin-Welsh Wedding at Calgary

A very pretty wedding, and one of much local interest was the marriage in Calgary Monday, July 30th, of Mr. George E. Quirin and Miss Helen A. Welsh, of Calgary, formerly of Howe Island, near Kingston, Ontario.

The wedding ceremony took place at St. Mary's Cathedral at 5 a.m. The nuptial mass being celebrated by Rev. Father Smith.

The winsome bride was charming in her bridal gown of white, and carried a beautiful bouquet of roses and fern.

She was given in marriage by her Uncle, Mr. F. D. Welsh.

Miss Mildred MacPherson was bridesmaid, and looked lovely in a very becoming gown of orchid tones, with which she carried a pretty bouquet of pink roses and mauve sweet peas.

The groom was supported by Mr. T. A. McGee.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. Burdett, of Calgary sang music.

Beautifully that lovely gem in music, Gounod's "Ave Maria".

The wedding breakfast was served at the Palliser, at which only the immediate members of each family and the attendants were present.

The bridal couple left Calgary on a 4 train for Winnipeg, St. Paul, Chicago, New York, New Haven, Montreal and Kingston, at which latter place the bride's parents reside.

On their return they will reside in Mr. Quirin's pretty new bungalow on Third Avenue, Hyde Park.

Everyone extends their best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Quirin.

MORE PROOF THAT "THE WOMAN PAYS"

CINCINNATI—Just another case in proof of the old saying, "The Woman Pays" is true. In a divorce suit, Mrs. Cora M. Ross told the judge that despite the fact that she had used her savings to buy her husband two automobiles, he charged her $3 every time she went for a ride.

Elks Picnic at Carseland

The Strathmore Elks held their picnic at the river near Carseland on Wednesday, July 25th. The sun was overcast in the morning but by afternoon it cleared up, and was perfect; a nice breeze, bright sun, and no more quitters.

Cars left Strathmore at 9.15, and on arriving at the picnic ground a few of the Carseland brothers had arrived, and cars kept on coming till 6 p.m. Brother Frederick Harvey arrived about 5 p.m. with the Hughes motor truck carrying the ice cream and other good things to eat. The truck was surrounded by the children from the ages of 2 to 50, anxious to cool their fevered tongues by eating lots of ice cream.

Hares and horseshoe throwing competition were the order until the ladies committee, composed of Medema, C. and P. Harvey, Hughes, Gatenby and Cotti assisted by a host of willing helpers prepared the dainty and appetizing supper, which seemed to disappear as if by magic, especially the lemonade.

The Strathmore Elks' band played selections with one eye on the tables, then seeing the viands disappearing so rapidly, folded up their instruments and "fell off".

After supper the races were run, and Exalted Ruler Ray Melvin presented the prizes, and made a speech welcoming visiting brothers, and expressing his wish that it would become an annual affair.

The prize winners were:

Girls race, under 10 years—Norma Scherer.

Girls race, under 10 years—Donald Miller.

Girls race, over 10 years—F. Harwood.

Boys race, over 10 years—Bernard James.

Thread and needle race mixed—Mrs. Belts and Mabel Hays.

Horseshoe race—Bern James and Mrs. Norman Scherer.

Horseshoe pitching—Mrs. C. Harter and Walter Miller.

High Jump—Bern James.

Married ladies race—Mrs. C. Harter.

Men's race—Freddie Benz.

Feast race—Mrs. C. Harvey and Eldon Boupe.

After the distribution of prizes, more ice cream was served, and, as the sun was shining fast, the young men sought their lady loves, and the married men sought their off spring and the cars returned home in pairs and twos and threes, leaving the committee to gather up the fragments (i.e., ending a happy time spent in the open.

Wheat Pools May Withhold Portion of Crop

VICTORIA, B.C.—Canadian wheat pools may have to withhold part of this year's wheat crop to prevent glutting of the world market, stated H. W. Laird, of Saskatoon, Sask., wheat grower and business man.

Mr. Laird said: "Farmers of the prairie have lost nearly fifty million dollars in the last few days as a result of the fast break in wheat prices, which are down ten cents a bushel on an estimated crop of 500,000,000 bushels."

"The condition of the market is so weak and with so much new grain

Stampede Wind-Up Meeting

On Thursday, a meeting of the stampede organization was held to close up the business and receive the report of the Minister of Finance, W. S. Patterson.

During the meeting an informal talk took place in regard to the absolute necessity of securing permanent grounds, not only for holding stampedes, but that it would be wise to have a first-class race track and athletic grounds.

That the time had passed for holding events for which it is necessary to raise funds by imposing upon the good nature of a very few willing citizens the burden of collecting admissions.

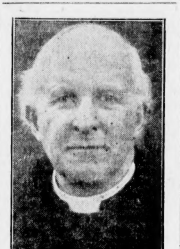

Strathmore must have grounds at which admission will only be possible after purchasing tickets at the ticket offices. Hundreds of dollars each year are lost simply through the old system which is quite out of date.

Notwithstanding the difficulties encountered, the stampede and races, after giving one of the best programs in the history, and for which a very hearty vote of thanks was tendered to manager Leslie West, Mr. Patterson was able to report that only a small deficit of less than $75 existed. The statement is as follows:

CALGARY PROBUS CLUB VISITED STRATHMORE

BRITAIN'S NEW PRIMATE!
Archbishop Cosmo Lang of York is reported to have signified his willingness to succeed to the Primacy of England when the aged Archbishop Randall Davidson retires from Canterbury.

Delighted With Canadian Trip

Theodore Christensen, who recently visited Strathmore with the Danish settlers, governor of Minnesota, in his speech at Winnipeg, expressed the hope that in the near future the peoples on either side of the 49th parallel will be more closely united by means of modern transportation, and that no existing petty jealousy between nations, corporations, cities, or communities will completely vanish.

"The best citizen of any country is a man who dreams, builds, and visualizes the future and not the man who scoffs at institutions, government, and tears down for the sake of merely getting pleasure out of it," said Governor Christensen. He believed in the class of people who build palaces from the ground, illustrating this by symphonic harmony where a number of musicians playing on different instruments yet producing a perfect harmony and beautiful melody.

"It only takes three hours and fifteen minutes by air from Winnipeg to Minneapolis," said the governor, and with present automobile transportation and intercommunication through the press between these two nations, we are looking to wonderful accomplishments in the future, only which have men with great vision and insight."

Mrs. C. T. Kummern, president of the recent Norwegian convention, in her short address painted a nice picture of the western Canada as she saw it on the trip with the press association members. "Four days through the three prairie provinces, where wheatfields present to one an unusual picture, then through the Rockies with its indescribable scenes, and a beautiful sunset on the Pacific coast, are some of the natural treasures that are worth while writing to your folks about," said Mrs. Kummern.

EMPLOYERS TAKING FOUR HOURS TO EAT

TAMPOICO, Mex.—The "three hours for lunch" club must look to their laurels. Customs employees here for lunch at 1 p.m. and return at 5 to work until 7. They start at 8 a.m.

A number of members of the Calgary Probus Club visited Strathmore on Wednesday evening last week, and were welcomed by President Thor, E. Wright, of the local Probus Club, at the Strathmore Hotel.

The headliner of the visiting entertainment was C. A. Hayden, of the Calgary Herald, editor and publisher. "Charlie" is a fourteen karat enthusiast for the preservation of game in Alberta, and took this opportunity of reaching the members of the local Probus Club.

He pictured the time as fast approaching when the prairie, the foothills and the streams and lakes of Alberta would attract sportsmen from every part of the globe.

This objective would be obtained through the assistance of the Dominion and Provincial Governments, together with the experience of the older provinces, and the cooperation of local sportsmen.

He visualized the period when birds of buffalo roamed across and fifty miles deep travelled across the prairie, but through neglect, the time arrived when that romantic animal became almost extinct upon the western plains, but through the foresight, care and protection of the Dominion Government, the buffalo had grown in numbers until now almost 20,000 animals exist within the provincial boundaries.

The first situation was described in detail, showing where Alberta, with its clear mountain waters, was the ideal spot for trout and through improved conditions, better fishing conditions exist than ever before.

He very fully described the improved building conditions throughout the large area of Alberta, for bear, antelope, mountain sheep, and the elk, while that noted sportsman, the Hungarian partridge was rapidly increasing, and now the successful work that is being carried on by hundreds of workers is developing the prairie pheasant. Mr. Hayden is very hopeful that the bob white quail will be successfully raised in Alberta, and through exchange with other provinces for the Hungarian partridge to secure the planned grouse, which would take the place of the prairie chicken.

The game sanctuaries and preserves said Mr. Hayden, had played no small part in preserving the game and bird life of the province, providing spots where both the birds and animals could live in peace and multiply in safety.

Mr. Gilbert Patrick, of Strathmore, and Harry Hutchings, of Calgary, contributed to the musical entertainment of the evening.

President A. B. Mackay, of the Alberta Provincial association, was among those present. Mr. Mackay, in probably given more of his personal time and attention to the matter of good roads within the province than any other individual within Alberta.

BAY ROUTE NOW OPEN FOR NAVIGATION

OTTAWA, Ont.—The Hudson Bay route is now open for navigation, according to the reports which have been received by the department of railways and canals from officers stationed in the straits and at Fort Churchill. The ice at Fort Churchill went out on June 17, and while there are a few floating fields in the bay outside the harbor, there is no condition that would interfere with navigation. Hudson Strait, while not entirely clear of ice, are open, and the reports from the airman who are making flights whenever possible, indicate that a vessel could find its way through without trouble if aided by direction finding stations. Last autumn the straits were open until nearly Christmas, while Fort Churchill closed about December 12. This would indicate that there is at least a five-month period of navigation on the route in each year, and perhaps longer.

SPORT NOTES

Connie Mack and John Shille had a "fanning" buzz about old times recently. Both recalled the good old days when they and cats ran the mare and baseball was on its uppers. Perhaps some of the older fans will recall the carriage sheds that were built inside the grounds.

More picturesque was the handling of the receipts taken in at the carriage gate. When the buggy gang were in vogue it was the custom for the home club to supply the ticket seller at a window near the gate and the visiting club to assign one of its players to collect the pastboards.

That gave rise to a very happy situation. The ticket seller and the player-collector ran the enterprise on a co-operative basis. That means they ran the business for their own profit and the manager's loss.

The collector would nervously neglect to drop the tickets into the receptacle provided for that purpose and slip them back to the selling booth, where they would be sold over again a few times. When business was lull they'd drop a number of tickets into the box and turn in the money to cover them.

Connie Mack discovered this little ruse by accident. He hopped out of the players' carriage one day in a Western city and took up the post of collecting. He was met by the ticket seller, who did not recognize Mack, approached him and said, "Well, how shall we get you?"

Connie led the fellow on and presently learned the workings of the carriage sale. When he had all the details he announced that he was to be no split that day or any other day while his club was in town. He would be partner in crime was taken aback.

"Don't you know who I am?" Connie asked, and the fellow hearily said, "You're a player, ain't you?"

Connie answered yes, and that he was also the manager of the club.

Another insight into the philosophy of early baseball is afforded by the club owner's reaction to Connie's information about the shuldiggers at the gate. The owner wasn't much perturbed about being robbed. After listening to Connie's indignant information, he merely drawled: "Well, that fellow needs it more than I do, Connie. I don't mind."

Tim Hurst boy only was a baseball umpire, but often he refereed prize fights, bicycle races and marathons. His services were in demand for some of the big events of this kind and Tim always liked to get the work for the job paid well. B. B. Johnson had given Timothy several days off for these outside assignments, but the requests were coming too fast and Mr. Johnson finally told Timothy he could not get off again. He would either confine his time to umpiring or to the outside work; he could no longer do both.

Timothy had signed up to referee a marathon race on a Saturday and he was trying to think up some scheme whereby he could beat the edict of the league chief. On Friday afternoon he was still without an alibi, but he still had his ticket bought for New York, and wired the promoters that he would be on hand for the race.

The same day was nip and tuck and then the ninth inning arrived the home club was leading by one run. Kid Elberfeld was on second with two out and the batter hit a single. Elberfeld tore for the plate and easily beat a relayed throw. But, all the while Timothy saw a tie score, an extra inning game, a missed train and a missed engagement. He acted quickly.

"You're out," said Timothy. Elberfeld rushed at Timothy.

"I said OUT!" reiterated the umpire. "You're OUT!"

Elberfeld pushed Timothy and Timothy, seeing the catcher's mark on the ground, picked it up, drove it with full force on Elberfeld's head, laid open his scalp, knocked him unconscious, tossed aside the no longer useful uniform of the field, hurriedly changed his clothes and caught the train for New York.

"Well, I said I'd referee the marathon race and I did, didn't I?" he announced. "And a pretty neat piece of financing I call it. Got myself well paid for a week and fined $100. I drew down $500 for refereeing and I'm $400 to the good and got a week's vacation out of it."

He: Don't you think football is a swell game?

She: Oh, I'm simply mad over it, but it's so rough!

He: Sure, it's rough. But there isn't only the physical side to it. Think of the great character-building forces and all that.

She: I guess you're right.

He: That's the moral training in getting knocked down time after time and getting up with a smile and never losing your temper. Fits a man for the great game of life, you know what I mean.

She: It certainly does.

He: And not only that, think what it does for the student bodies. Establishes good will between the universities. I tell you, football does a lot to draw the students of different colleges into a kind of bond, creates good feeling, you know; sorts cement the bonds of friendship and all that kind of stuff.

She: That's right. Are you going to the game tomorrow?

He: Am I going to the game? I should say no. I hope our team beats those guys to a pulp. Every time one of them gets knocked out you will hear me holler my head off. I'd like to be in there myself to twist a few ankles. They'd do it themselves if they had brain's enough to think of it, I swim.

She: I hope our boys just murder them!

A NEW TYPE STEERING MECHANISM

Higher standards in traffic safety and automobile operating control have appeared on streets and highways of the country as a result of the recent introduction of the new Nash "400". Series of cars, according to reports from experts and the owners who have now had ample time to test the unequalled steering qualities of the new models.

Steering ease is one of the outstanding features of the new Nash offering, and the system is an engineering accomplishment which has centered the interest of automobile experts the country over. It has been attained by the use of a new type steering mechanism which affords the fastest and easiest manipulation ever known in driving and in parking, and has reduced the Nash turning radius by 20 percent.

This exclusive Nash design is of general interest. Briefly it includes the following features:

At the lower end of the steering column, under the hood, is the sector gear worm gear. When the steering wheel is turned, this gear also turns. Upon the easy action of this gear depends the easy action of the steering wheel. In the new Nash mechanism

The Duty of Will Making

Few intelligent men or women question that it is their duty to make a will. The tendency, however, is to postpone performing this duty.

A will carefully prepared by your lawyer, with The Trusts and Guarantee Company, Limited, appointed Executor and Trustee to carry out its provisions, will prove the best protection you can afford to your heirs and their heritage.

this gear is mounted in either roller or ball bearings.

The turning motion of the worm gear must be transformed into a transverse action to move the front wheels. This is done, by means of the tooth which travels in the spiral groove of the worm. Here again is a possibility of hard steering—the friction between tooth and gear. Nash eliminates friction here by making the tooth a roller-tooth, which rotates with the gear at the same time that it travels along the worm. In the Standard Six a slightly different mechanism—the "cam and lever type"—is used. It is also designed to eliminate friction.

In still another way Nash eliminates effort. The front end of the car must rest on steering knuckles. At these points Nash uses ball bearings, transmitting the weight of the car to the wheels with a minimum of friction. And to make control of the car still easier, use of an inclined king pin brings the axis of the knuckle pin and the plane of the front wheel to intersect at approximately road surface. This reduces shocks to a minimum and controls the car perfectly at high speeds.

The entire steering mechanism is readily built up with enlarged bearing surfaces to reduce wear. Adjustments are simple and easily accessible. A touch is sufficient to guide the car through labyrinth of traffic or straight as the crow flies over the open road.

Never before in the history of the automobile industry, according to engineers, has there been evolved so responsive, smooth and sure a system of steering that featured on the new "400".

AGRICULTURAL PROGRESS IN ALBERTA

Hon. George Hoadley.

Occupying a unique place in the chain of sister provinces, Alberta extends on the West into the belt of mineral and forest wealth of the foothills and the Rockies, but her greatest claim to the attention of the world has been established by her contribution, in common with the other prairie provinces, to the world's supply of food. Of the sixty million acres of productive agricultural lands within the boundaries of the province, less than one quarter has as yet been tamed by the plow. Alberta's wheat and other cereal grains have established their supremacy in point of quality over all competitors and her fertile soil guarantees a bountiful yield for many years. Her vast rangelands in the south and the park belt throughout the central part of the province offer unlimited opportunities in the many branches of agriculture, from livestock raising and grain growing to mixed farming, irrigation farming, dairying, poultry raising and bee-keeping.

The rapid growth of this young province is indicated by the volume and wealth of her agricultural production in 1927. Field crops and root and fodder crops from a cultivated area of 10,981,270 acres reached a total value of $272,891,152, while dairy products worth $29,750,000, livestock valued at $25,000,000 and various other products including alfalfa seed, wool, honey, poultry and eggs, and game and furs contributed to the impressive total of $328,141,152. When it is realized that in 1905, when Alberta became a province, the total value of her annual agricultural production was estimated at $20,000,000, some idea will be gained of the tremendous strides made in this direction in a comparatively short period.

While Alberta is still a young province, she has rapidly passed through the pioneer stage which is peculiar to all new countries. Thousands of acres of range land have been transferred into a grain-producing area, every hand is seen the farmer for more comfortable and more permanent farm homes which provide a sure basis for contentment and prosperity. Alberta's brains are recognized as being unsurpassed in point of quality and their superiority in this regard is attested by the fact that since the formation of the province, Alberta farmers have won international championships three times in wheat and six times in oats, as well as numerous other high awards in competition with the products of many countries, and similar recognition indicates the high standard of Alberta's livestock and poultry and dairy products.

The products of Alberta farms have made for themselves an enviable reputation in the markets of the world. Alberta wheat and flour, beef, butter and bacon have stood the test in the countries to which they are exported, of the keenest competition with the products of many lands, one of the climate and fertile soil of the province work hand in hand with the farmer who is anxious to improve still further the quality of the products he raises for export.

Needless to say, there is no apparent limit to the agricultural wealth which increased rural population and careful farming methods will make available. Thousands of acres of productive raw land still await development which will transform them into prosperous farming communities. Since Alberta became a province in 1905, her population has increased from less than 200,000 to well over 600,000 and at the present rate of settlement, this mark will not stand long. Her wealth of opportunity in many lines of activity is becoming thousands of newcomers who are quick to take advantage of the homes she offers.

Alberta young people are in an enviable position in being able to take advantage of these opportunities. Year by year greater numbers are equipping themselves with an education along the lines of practical agricultural and home-making. Special training is available in the most approved methods of crop production, the feeding and management of improved livestock, in systems of farming which will maintain the fertility of our soil, and in the ways of adding to the beauty and comfort of our farm homes. Anyone who will follow these principles, can make a very real contribution to the life and prosperity of Alberta by keeping agriculture in its proper place as the leading industry of our province for many years to come.

STORIES OF CANADIAN PIONEERS

Georgina H. Thompson, M.A.

Once-upon-a-time stories are interesting to most young people, but I think the most interesting of all such stories are those which tell of the once-upon-a-time of our own ancestors in this new land. Canada has been built on the courage and sacrifice of her early settlers, and books which deal with their lives should appeal to all Canadian boys and girls. Premier King, in his introduction to Mabel Durham's "Trail of the Conestoga," the story of the Dutch pioneers in Ontario, says: "It is such literature that makes us realize the background of our country's story. We know and appreciate too little the initiative, patience and self-sacrifice which characterized the struggles of our forefathers in laying the foundations of our country. These pioneers lived close to the earth and the realities of life, and books dealing with their life have been described by a recent French Canadian writer as "The School of Terror" or "The World of the Soil". The Chopping Block by Victorin is a good example of this type of book, describing as it does the simple pioneer type, "the lovely who live close to the land, who cling to the house which they have built, to the things they have touched, to the furrows which have yielded them their bread, to the trees which have afforded them shade." Other books of the same type, dealing with life in Quebec are Rivard's "Chez Nous", "The Cure St. Michel" by Caron, "The Wayside Cross" by Waagen, and best known and best loved of all, Benson's perfect little idyll, "Maria Chapdelaine." Such books as these not only give us delightful pictures of French-Canadian life, but should do much to create a feeling of understanding and sympathy between the two great races of Canada. I should like to include with these "The Spell of French Canada" by Frank Oliver Call, which links up so pleasantly the old days in Quebec with the new.

Perhaps the most famous of the books describing pioneer life in Upper Canada are Mrs. Moody's "Roughing It in the Bush" and Mrs. Jameson's "Winter Studies and Summer Rambles in Canada." The latter has a wit that is inclined to be caustic, but leaves a bright, realistic picture of life in Upper Canada in 1837. With these two writers should be grouped Mrs. Trail whose book "Canadian Cruces" appeared in 1852, "was reprinted later as "Lost in the Backwoods" and has recently appeared again in a new edition under the original title. In its new dress it should prove attractive to Canadian boys and girls.

"The Silver Maple" by Marion Keith, is a pioneer story that anyone might enjoy. It is full of humorous and stirring incidents in the life of a Highland Settlement in Western Ontario. Another favorite is the son's book, "Old Man Savarin" Stories" which are concerned with the Ottawa and Niagara Districts. There are many other books dealing with life in Upper Canada, but I shall mention only two more: "The Backwoodswoman" by Isabel Skelton, and "Candlelight Days" by Tenney. Both of these books give interesting accounts of the business of making a home in the wilderness.

I have only space to mention one Western pioneer book, but it is one that specially appeals to me. It is "Women of the Red River" a collection of actual reminiscences of some of the old Red River Settlers, gathered together and published by W. J. Healy. Mr. Healy has not spelled the stories by working them over too much, but has left them in the rambling, informal style in which the old ladies told them, so that as

GRADUATE ALONE AT 'VANITY REUNION'

ONTARIO, Calif.—J. H. Lewis kept his vow 50 years ago. At that time Lewis graduated from the University of Minnesota, at Minneapolis. He told his classmates if he lived he would return to the university for the fiftieth class reunion.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

The Editor,
Strathmore Standard

Sir:

In a history of printing in America, in the preparation of which I am now engaged, I should like to make an accurate statement regarding the beginnings of the press in Strathmore, and I appeal to the older residents of the community to answer for me, as fully and accurately as possible, the following questions:

1. When was the first printing done in Strathmore, and by whom?
2. What were the first newspapers published in Strathmore, and what the dates of their first issues?
3. Where are the best files of these early papers preserved? Or what individuals own copies of the earliest issues?

4. What was the title of the first pamphlet or book printed in your community, the date of its publication, and the name of its printer? Where may a copy be found? Similar information regarding other early publications is also desired.

5. Has there ever been published, and if so when and where, any article on or reminiscences regarding early printing and publishing in Strathmore?

Apart from answers to these questions, I shall also be much interested in any records or reminiscences regarding early local printers and their work.

Anyone having such information will render a useful service to local history by putting it now in the form of a letter addressed to 209 Lewis Street, Chicago, Ill. The courtesy will be cordially appreciated and the information will be assured of preservation in permanent form.

Very sincerely,
DOUGLAS S. McMURTRE

MODERN WILLIAM TELL
EATS HIS RED TARGET

UNIONTOWN, Pa.—Shooting an apple off the head of a person makes fine reading in a story book, but Mrs. James Dennis of the mountainous region, near Seaton's Lake refused to take a chance of balancing an apple on her head.

James Dennis, the husband, had a nice red apple selected for the feat and his favorite rifle loaded for the occasion, but Mrs. Dennis managed to break away and escaped to a neighbor's home.

When officers reached the scene they found Dennis asleep with his rifle in his hand and the apple of the apple nearby, indicating that he had devoured the target. Dennis was jailed.

WEDDING

HILTON—MALLOW

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, July 18th, in St. Mary's Anglican Church, at Maple Creek, Sask., when Audrey Josephine, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Mallow, became the bride of Leonard Hilton, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hilton, of Nictinville, Alta. The Rev. F. Hilary officiating.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white georgette, trimmed with white satin, with wreath of orange blossoms and veil, and carried a lovely shawl bouquet of Ophelia roses.

The maid of honour, Miss Carrie Perkins, wore a figured georgette, and the two bridesmaids, Miss Cheeseman and Miss Fleming, wore pointed georgette with picture hats and carried bouquets of pink roses, the gift of the bridegroom.

The Church was beautifully decorated with flowers and ferns. The wedding march was played by Miss Hearn, and two hymns were sung by the choir, "The Voice That Breathed Over Eden" and "O Perfect Love".

HARD WHEAT GROWN IN B. C. SUCCEEDS

VANCOUVER, B.C.—For the first time hard wheat has been grown successfully on a large scale in British Columbia, and its movement to Vancouver will start early in August, according to advices from the Okanagan valley.

Soft wheat has been grown in small quantities for several years in the Okanagan, but it was not until 1927 that the producers sold for export. Heavy rains last fall prevented them from planting soft wheat, and as an alternative Marquis seed was imported from Alberta. The crop is reported in excellent shape.

Local Jottings :-

Mrs. Norman Haines and family, of Great Falls, Montana, who have been the guests of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. F. Jones, left Tuesday for their home.

The Strathmore baseball club is putting on a big tournament and dance on Friday, August 3, when the following towns will compete: Langdon vs. Strathmore in the first game, Carleton vs. Rockyford in the second game, and the two winners in the final. This promises to be the base ball event of the season, and will be wound up with a big dance in the evening in the Memorial Hall.

A fine rain fell on Saturday afternoon, and again on Sunday, which will have a wonderful effect upon the fast maturing beautiful crop, which is making everyone exceedingly happy. Fortunately no hail was reported in the Strathmore district.

If Bob Brown, manager of the electric light company, was able to stop soundly on Saturday night, it was not owing to the nice sounding remarks made by the people when the service was suspended.

Rev. Mr. Winter has the trees and lawn in front of St. Michael & All Angels Church looking in fine condition.

Miss Gladys Hughes has returned from a three weeks' vacation during which time, accompanied by her father, mother and sister, they made a five day trip up the western coast.

The Strathmore intermediate ball team visited Carleton on Friday night and captured a game 11 to 4. Jack Crellin was the local box artist with McGeevrey, while Woodrow and Melendy did the honors for Carleton.

Strathmore Intermediate baseball team played at Standard on Sunday, and won 7 to 2. Chase and McGeevrey were in the points for the local team.

In Hughes Motors advertisement last week, a case cut was used in error, which, as everyone knows, they are the McGeevrey's. We cannot get them fast enough almost as maid to secure an extra Ford.

The maid of honour, Miss Carrie Perkins, wore a figured georgette, and the two bridesmaids, Miss Cheeseman and Miss Fleming, wore pointed georgette with picture hats and carried bouquets of pink roses, the gift of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Melendy were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hobbins, at Innisfail.

Among the floral tributes to the late Frank Logan, one from Mrs. W. H. of Nictinville, was inadvertently omitted from the list.

Friends of Miss Pierson will be anxious to learn the date of the splendid motorcade from her recent illness in a Vancouver hospital.

The Carleton Intermediate baseball team had suffered defeat at the hands of the local boys, returned under the guidance of Manager Phillips, with blood in their eyes, and bound to wipe out their recent defeat, which they did to the tune of 10 to 4. Eddie Crellin umpired and brought his winning smile into play, so that he escaped with his life. Phillips and Melendy were in the points for Carleton, while Jack Crellin and McGeevrey did duty for the home team.

Bob Canuck, who holds the Canadian record for being sent to "alum-bum" made at Strathmore with Nels Ferguson, will meet Young Kewick at Brooks tonight.

The friends of Mr. Boissevain will regret to hear she is ill at her home with nurse Marchant in attendance.

Miss Florence Garrett is visiting friends in Edmonton.

Miss Jean McGeevrey will leave this week to visit friends in Milk River.

Mrs. Whitehead and daughter, Bernice, will leave Sunday for Winnipeg, where they will spend the holidays.

Mr. Geo. H. Jones left Monday for Regina, where he will attend the exhibition.

The Intermediate Husar baseball team came over on Tuesday and suffered defeat by the local Intermediate boys. Butmer, Le Grande were in the battery for Husar, while Jack Crellin and McGeevrey for Strathmore. The local pitcher, Jack Crellin, if he did not win, he wouldn't let him play any more, so Jack got busy, score 13 to 3.

The big baseball tournament at Standard, which was announced last August 8th, will be held on Friday, August 10th. Don't forget the change of date. Joan Kimmert is arranging a swell tournament, and Joan sure knows how to gather up the real ball players. August the 10th is the date. Among those who suffered last loss in the storm which broke over Strathmore on Saturday, was Arnold Fraser, of the Strathmore Hotel, who has a farm near Carletonville.

Mrs. McVilly, of Revelstoke, who visited her sister, Mrs. Gilbert Patrick during the past week, left Tuesday en route for Toronto and New York.

Mr. North, of Calgary, preached very ably in the United Church hall on Tuesday evening.

The Brooks Bulletin, in referring to the district golf playoff between Leonard Van Tighem and Tait White, says "Van Tighem is but sixteen years old, and has the makings of a first class player". His short game was awful good. The score was White 58, Van Tighem 59.

Miss Gibson, who has been told in the Royal Bank here, has been transferred to Beiseker, after eleven years service in Strathmore. Miss Gibson was a most efficient official, and the transfer will be regretted by her many friends among the bank patrons.

Mr. Smith, of the Langdon Branch of the Royal Bank, has joined the local staff in Strathmore.

The Misses Betty and Josephine French will leave shortly to spend part of the vacation in Calgary, guests at the home of Mrs. C. E. Lane.

L. V. Newson, of Calgary, was in town on Saturday, renewing old acquaintances. Mr. Newson was on the Standard twelve years ago, and notes the wonderful development of the town throughout the town.

A sister of Mrs. M. F. Fergusson, of Rochester, Minnesota, was visiting at his home for a week, leaving last Wednesday.

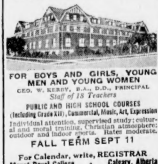

Mr. and Mrs. A. Bishop and children, and Mrs. Bishop's mother, Mrs. Jones, of Racine, Wisconsin, are holidaying in Banff last week.

The United Sunday School and the Women's Institute held their annual picnic together last Wednesday, making it a real community affair. Mrs. Cowen offered the use of their beautiful yard, and no pleasanter place could be found anywhere. Long tables were placed in an avenue of "old" trees, and were nicely decorated with the many flowers which abound everywhere in the yards.

A Layzell, the Bow Valley auctioneer, has lost a fine Shire horse, and thinks that he has enough friends in the Bow Valley who don't know him too well, that might help him to locate this animal. Please Call 2215.

On Saturday and Sunday, people were very anxious regarding the possibility of serious damage by hail. Fortunately the hail in the Bow Valley so far as has been learned, is very slight. Fred J. Dunn reported that a few clams had been received, but he was hopeful that the losses would only be slight. Thos. E. Wright had no claims reporting a loss. Over Gary, and on down south through High River, Blackie, Vulcan, Parkland, Carletonville, the losses were very heavy. In many cases losses of $2500 to $5000 were reported. In some cases, as in the case of Ray Melvin, had word from his family near Stanton, that their garden had been destroyed, but that the crop a short distance removed had fortunately come through unharmed.

HEARD ON THE STREET

Post Office Inspector: "People complain about not receiving answers to letters. Don't you send out the mail every day?"

New Postmaster: "Of course not! I wait until the mailbox is full."

"What is the trouble with a used telephone?"

"Just that!"

"Hafn, you better go and tell your master!" said the motorist to the farmer's boy who stood looking at the load of hay upset in the lane by a collision.

"E knows," replied the boy.

"Knows? How can he know?"

"Cos he's under the hay."

Pat was hired in a lumber office. The proprietor was a young man, and he decided to have some fun with the new hand, so Pat was left in charge of the office, with instructions to take all orders which might come in. Going to a nearby store, the proprietor called up the office:

"Hello! Is this the East Side Lumber Company?"

"Yes, sir."

"Send me up 1,000 knot holes."

"What's that?"

"One thousand knot holes."

"Well, now, ain't that a shame! We are just out of them. Send them all to the brewery."

"To the brewery? What do they want with them?"

"They use them for bungs on beer barrels."

The Guide: "Yes, it must be over a thousand years old. You can take it from me, they don't build such ancient castles nowadays."

She (with magnanimity): "What a miserable writer Shakespeare was. Look at his signature."

He: "Well, I suppose we shouldn't criticize the poor beggar. He didn't have our educational advantages, you know."

Percy Parish: "What's the time, Bill?"

Bill Wilkinson: "Ow do I know, silly. Yer knows I only wear my wrist watch on Sundays!"

Communistice propaganda teaches, if it teaches anything, that the poor can bring about the millennium if they act like the farmhand.

The boss farmer, in the middle of the afternoon found this farmhand sitting under a tree, smoking a cigarette.

"What yer doin' dar, Sam," said the farmer, "restin'?"

"Nope," said Sam, "not persackly restin', fer I haint tired. I'm just waitin' for the sun to go down, so's I kin quit work."

Wife: "John, I'm writing a paper in 'Colander' for our club. Do you know what the prize gave us our present calendar?"

Husband: "Pope? Good heaven! I thought it came from our grocer."

"Good evening, my young friend, are you attending a place of worship?" asked a minister when he met Jim Gannon on the street on a Sunday evening.

"Yes, indeed, sir," the young man replied, "I'm on my way to see her now."

Beneath the spreading chestnut tree The small woods were like the druce; For now he's selling gasoline, And dogs and orange juice.

Somehow we kind of like the honest-to-goodness, suspender-wearing hand-clasping, accommodating, raw-boned, straight-eyed, chestnut-haired, dog-loving, God-fearing, booster-minded individual who always says, "It's best for this community you can avoid the rush that comes early to avoid the rush."

Blairmore Enterprise.

"They say he loves her so much that he can even anticipate her thoughts."

"Yes, indeed! When they were coming out this evening he said, 'Yes, dear, it is on straight,' before she had said a word!"

"I don't know what to do with that dog. I've tried a dozen times to give him away, but no one will have him."

"Tried to give him away, did you? That's no way to get rid of a dog. Ask $25 for him."

"Could I have some more coffee, please?" asked the new arrival at the seaside boarding house.

"The coffee," said the landlady, "is I am sorry to say, exhausted."

"Ah, yes, poor thing," murmured a cynical boarder. "It was expecting that. All this while I've noticed it's been getting weaker and weaker."

Pat (angrily): "O! wouldn't throw a rope if ye was drownin'."

Mike: "O! wouldn't touch it if ye did."

Years ago wives were thrifty. They have been known to make hubby 25 live out of an old dress. Nowadays things are changed somewhat, so that it is almost possible to make a dress out of an average necktie.

Justus: "Here am a telegram from de master in Africa stating he is sending us some lions' tails."

Circus Owner's Wife: "Lion's tails, Justus? What are you talking about?"

Justus: "Well, read it yourself. It says plain, 'Jes captured two lions; sending details by mail.'"

Contributor: "I have a manuscript here which I offered you a year ago."

Editor: "If I retained it a year ago, why do you bring it back again?"

Contributor: "You have had another year's experience since then."

The politician had been leaning heavily upon the old fence, talking to the farmer. He was full of phrases the "astounding alliances" and "foreign influences," and begged support for his particular party.

"Well, I'll tell you," said the farmer. "I'm not worried about the alliances, and the foreign things I would like to get rid of are these pesky Canadian bunties and Mexican flies. If your party can do that, I'm for it strong."

Sheik: "Once I met a girl and she made a foot out of me."

Sheikess: "What lasting impressions some girls make!"

"But I thought this place was always crowded."

"It usually is between seven and eight, but I believe in coming late to avoid the rush that comes early to avoid the rush."

Little Boy: "Oh, hummie, it's raining, and you've no umbrella."

Mother: "Never mind, dear, the color in this hat won't run."

Little Boy: "But it's your face hummie dear, I'm thinking of."

Music Enthusiast (at a baritone's recital): "Gimmie, but he has a wonderful range!"

Friend: "Yes, I've heard he has a very modern kitchen."

"They separated on account of incompatibility, didn't they?"

"Yes, he never would get angry when she was."

"I'm awfully sorry, Mrs. Blunt," the fashionable youth drawled, "that I forgot your party last Friday!"

"Oh," remarked Mrs. Blunt, innocently, "weren't you there?"

"Did yer git anything?" whispered the burglar on the ground as his pal emerged from the window.

"Naw, the bloke who lives here is a lawyer," replied the other in disgust.

"That's hard luck," said the first. "Did you lose anything?"

An Irishman was seated in a train beside a pompous individual who was accompanied by a dog.

"Folke dog ye have," said the Irishman. "Folke kind is it?"

"A cross between an Irishman and an ape," replied the man.

"Where an it's related to both of us," the Irishman rejoined.

A negro preacher had pestered his bishop so much with appeals for help that the bishop finally told him with a tone of finality that he didn't want any more appeals from him.

The next week came another letter from the preacher:

"Dear Bishop, I assure you this is n't an appeal. It is a report. I have no pants!"

Gene Giroux: "What a smooth gear shift you have on your car?"

She: "Hey, will you take your hand off my knee?"

Here's a poser. Why is it that a motor car with one horn can toss a man farther than a wild bull with two horns?

"Who is that peach you brought with you to the dance tonight?" asked one fellow of another at the dance.

"That's no peach," the other replied, "She's a grapefruit. I squeezed her and she hit me in the eye."

"Howdy, Late," snorted an acquaintance. "Here's everything!"

Finn's true heir," returned Late. "I was so wet last spring that I didn't raise nuthin' worth braggin' about, and wife's got a raise in her head and ain't no 'count for nuthin'." A couple of the children got smoke bit yastar, but are yellin' about it yet, my brother-in-law took a notion to die on me not long ago and mused the place up scurvy, the south end of the house got burned off one night last week, our only cow choked to death t'other day, and such like."

"But a couple of my boys have got six pups apiece, I parried 17 scallawags you ever laid your eyes on."

Motorist (stopping in small town): "Would you be good enough to watch my car a few minutes?"

Native: "Sir, I'm the Mayor of this place."

Motorist: "That's all right. You took home."

Neighbor (just returned from afternoon's golf): "Good heavens! I don't mean to say you've been garden. Ever since 7 o'clock this morning, I wouldn't think of doing such a thing!"

Limp and Exhausted One: "I wouldn't either; it was my wife who thought of it!"

A youthful artist was singing "Kathleen Mavourneen," and would insist on singing "The dawn on the hills."

When the concert was over the Chairman approached him, and in a fatherly manner praised the young singer.

"You sing beautifully," he said, "but you mustn't forget to sing your altches."

The boy was indignant. "Go on," he said. "Who are you trying to make? There aren't any altches in music, the notes stop at G."

minister of labor.

The statement follows:—

In exposing the true situation respecting immigration from Great Britain to Canada the minister of labor, the Hon. Peter Herman, has done a service not only to the people of this country, but to the intending emigrants themselves. Too long has the Canadian government remained silent and allowed misleading propaganda as to opportunities for employment in Canada to be carried on without any official contradiction and especially does this apply to the opportunities supposed to exist among miners to develop our mineral resources.

Miner Surplus

The minister's clear declaration that the labor department records show a surplus of coal miners already in Canada should definitely give the quietus to those who seek to exploit the misery of British miners by seeking to induce them to migrate to Canada only to meet with similar conditions of unemployment as they leave behind.

The same can be said of practically every other industrial activity and the minister of labor is to be commended for daring to speak the truth when he says:—

"It would be of no benefit to either Canada or the immigrants themselves if artisans came to our cities from Britain expecting to find jobs at their trades and were left stranded here."

Everyone recognizes the necessity of meeting labor requirements to harvest the grain crop of Canada. Employers can do much to help in this if they will refrain from demanding the peak number of workers for their respective activities simultaneously with this period and organize their production so that there would be a greater volume of employment after the harvest season was over.

WOULD IMPORT CANADIAN HEIFERS INTO BRITAIN

LONDON—Approval of importation of Canadian breeding heifers was urged upon the government food council today by a deputation representing the London Meat Retailers' association. The shortage of meat from the Argentine was put forward as a sufficient reason.

Importation of non-pedigreed Canadian breeding cattle is prohibited and has been for some years. One of the reasons given is that these cattle are alleged to be much more prone to tuberculosis than their English counterparts. Various bodies and associations in Britain from time to time have urged removal of the restrictions.

CANADA HAS RIGHT TO NAME CONDITIONS

The problem of handling British emigration to Canada is apparently creating some bitterness in Britain.

This should not exist because Canada surely has the right to say under what conditions emigration to Canada should be permitted without any discrimination from any other sources.

The arrangements that have been made by Canada for examination of emigrants before sailing surely is to the advantage of the emigrant, who can make his plans for emigrating after he has passed, rather than he should sail to Canada on a chance, and find himself unable to qualify after reaching Canada, and he has been put to the expense of his passage to this country. Canada welcomes every British emigrant who is fit in mind and body, and offers reasonable opportunities for each and everyone of them to come here and make a good living for himself and family, but there is no room for any of them who are unfortunate in being mentally or physically unfit; Canada has more than enough of their own of this type.

Agitation, either for political or any other purpose should not make the slightest impression upon the Federal Government to relax the conditions which should strictly apply to all emigrants whether British or Continental.

FEAR PLAYS AN EXCEEDINGLY USELESS PART

What a part fear plays in our lives. Yet what a useless part. If we look at life bright, there is nothing to fear, except fear. Fear makes cowards of us all. We fear what people may think or say of us, and as a result, we are afraid that don't run true. We are false to ourselves because we imagine that others, looking at us, may misjudge us, so fear comes. What does it really matter what people say or think about us? What matters is that we are all right with ourselves. We cannot possibly be right with our neighbors without being right with our neighbors. Why fear others' opinion if we are right, and know we are right?

We fear poverty until we bring poverty upon ourselves. Poverty or prosperity is a matter of consciousness more than anything else. If we have a poverty consciousness, we shall see poverty everywhere, set limitations upon ourselves, hinder prosperity coming to us, and, so, bring about the very thing, poverty, we fear. The same with disease. We create disease by being afraid of it. Epidemics are started by unintentional propaganda more than anything else. We read of so many cases of gripe and ill, perchance, we sneeze sneezing, and then we have the malady and we begin to feel sick. Let a dozen people meet a man some morning and tell him he looks sick. He will go home and take to his bed, sick in his mind because some people told him he looked sick. It has happened so many a time. He feared the sickness and he got it.

EVERYONE IS INNOCENT UNTIL PROVEN GUILTY

A well-known Toronto barrister has announced his intention of asking the Minister of Justice to introduce legislation amending the Criminal Code of Canada in such a manner as to clarify the rights and privileges of persons suspected of having committed crimes. The effort is aimed at preventing arrested or suspected persons being questioned by policemen and so induced to incriminate themselves under such questioning; to stop them being "Third Degree'd".

In view of the world-wide attention that has been directed to the case of Sir Leo Chiozza Money, ex-Member of the British Parliament, and Miss Savage, where the young woman after a charge against her had been dismissed was taken to Scotland Yard and there "Third Degree'd" for several hours, and of many other notable instances of police inquisition, it would appear to be time that something were done to protect people from such injustices.

It is a fundamental principle of British law that everybody is innocent until proved guilty. It is equally fundamental that no accused person can be compelled to testify against himself or herself, as the case may be. The practice of police officers doing their utmost by questioning and sometimes threats, to induce persons under arrest or suspicion to incriminate themselves is a practice to be discouraged. In fact, it should be made a criminal offence for anybody, policeman or other citizen, to attempt such an invasion of personal rights.

CANADA TAKING FAVORABLE POSITION
PRODUCING MINERALS

Few Canadians have any real conception of the foremost position that Canada is taking today in the ranks of mineral producing countries. Almost every precious and base metal is found within her borders. Gold, silver, copper, nickel, lead, tin are all indigenous to our country. Other deposits such as asbestos are found in the earth of Canada; nearly all the world's supply of asbestos being produced in this Dominion. Truly, from a mineral point of view, Canada occupies a foremost place.

These deposits of rich metals are not confined to any one province either. While Ontario has been a leader amongst mineral producers other provinces are rapidly catching up with her. If Ontario has her Porcupine, Kirkland Lake, Cobalt, and Sudbury, Quebec has her Rouyn, Malartic, Chibougamau, and her famous Abitibi area. Nova Scotia, in addition to vast iron deposits is now known to have extensive gold areas and may possibly have some of the richest earth in the Dominion.

In the West, while British Columbia has long been producing richly of various metals, Manitoba has pushed herself into a leading position, her Flin Flon and Sheritt-Gordon mines being outstanding amongst mines in Canada. While other provinces may not yet have given so good a mineral account of themselves as those already mentioned here, there is no telling what riches they may yet reveal. The great pre-Cambrian area which covers Canada like a shield hides beneath it wealth untold, making this our country potentially the richest country in mineral wealth the world contains.

TRIPLETS MAKE THEIR APPEARANCE ON FARM

REGINA—The first triplets known to have been born in Southern Saskatchewan this year made their appearance on the farm of Reuben Branger, of the Bateman district, 60 miles southwest of Moose Jaw.

Dr. Woodside, of Bateman, who attended the births, stated that Mrs. Branger and the three children—two boys and a girl—are all doing well and that the children were excellently developed.

RUSSIAN OPERATOR OF POWERFUL RADIO ARRESTED

Quebec—Hidden in a shabby street here among poverty-stricken surroundings, has been found what is described as the most powerful radio set in America, the machine being in the possession of a 21-year-old Russian. With this set Arlene Nelma is said to have been in communication with European Capitals for the last two years, and what he talked about, and why, may make a very interesting case with reaching international complications. The machine, which was stolen, has been seized, and both the operator and his father are in jail.

The powerful radio is called a "Koltor Decimeter," and Nelma admitted taking it from the Marconi Company, where he was employed as an operator. The company has no hesitation in describing him as one of the best operators in the business. Yet he left this highly paid work to accept the unremunerative and arduous job of ordinary laborer. The fact that the humble little home in Silly Cove should house a $700 machine further incriminates Nelma and his 45-year-old father in an undetectable way. Inasmuch as 50 pounds of dynamite and several boxes of detonators were found in his possession, police say, and that it is also alleged that fire arms were located on the premises, some rather absorbing developments are likely.

This Decimeter is used by the Marconi Company alone, and it is the last word in telegraphy and wireless telephony. With this machine, it is stated Nelma has been talking to Paris, Petrograd, Berlin and London every day for several years. What these messages are may lead to startling discoveries.

The father and son are employed by the National Battlefields Commission. They are without means, and admit to being deeply in debt. The apparatus was discovered following widespread complaints that mysterious interference both in Canada and the United States was occurring from time to time. The waves were tracked to Quebec district, and finally to the house in Silly Cove. The machine was first seized, and when it was learned the parts were stolen, the owners were arrested.

Nelma Junior was educated in Quebec and is an accomplished linguist. He has been in Quebec 15 of his 21 years.

ONCE PENNILESS SCOT,
NOW MILLIONAIRE
LEAVES WIFE $5

NEW YORK—The last paragraph in the history of an interesting Scotsman's career was written today when the will of Alexander Rolland Peacock, who rose from a department store clerkship to the vice-presidency of the Carnegie Steel Company, was filed for probate.

Peacock, once reputed to be worth $15,000,000, left his widow, Irene M. Peacock, a five collar bill. His secretary gets 150 shares of Gulf Oil Corporation stock, or $70,000 in cash in case the securities do not realize that amount. His valet receives $2,500.

In explanation of his bequest to his widow, Peacock wrote in his will:

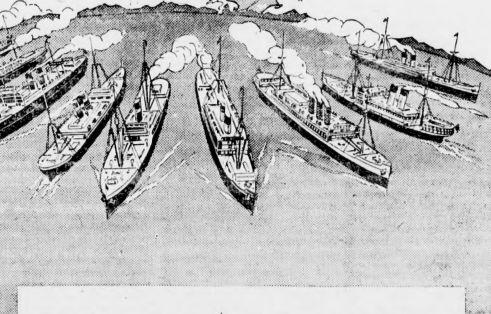

"It is intended by me to be in full and in lieu and bar of her dower and all and every right or interest in and to my estate. I make only this provision for reasons well-known to her, including the fact that I have amply and liberally provided for her during my lifetime."

A daughter, Miss Jean E. Peacock, gets the residuary estate, the value of which was not estimated. Peacock stipulated, however, that this daughter should receive $25,000 a year until she is thirty, when the entire interest and principal shall accrue to her.

The will stipulates that the legacy of any beneficiary who contests the document shall be invalidated.

Imports of merchandise in Alberta in 1919 amounted to a value of $3,701,467, while in 1925 this amount increased to $13,397,902. Exports of merchandise were in 1920, $186,653, as compared with $2,230,562 in 1925.

Canadas Market — The Empire

ROLL down the map of the world. Follow the British Empire right through the continents and across the seas. There you see beckoning markets for Canada—where fewer trade restrictions intervene, where British tradition is appreciated, where Canada is known. There we can sell. There we can also buy.

Canada is buying more Empire goods than ever before—things we cannot grow or make—raw materials for our factories. Since 1922 Canada's imports from Empire countries have increased 67 per cent. Last year we bought Empire goods to the value of $250,000,000.

And what is Canada selling the Empire? Last year we shipped $500,000,000 worth of our products to other British lands, an increase of 44.3 per cent. in six years.

The various parts of the Empire want more Canadian goods. A demand exists among them for Canadian manufactures, or for the products of Canadian lands or waters. But we must see that our exports are maintained at a rigid standard, that they are packed as consumers desire, and that our prices are right.

To encourage this growing Empire trade, eleven of Canada's twenty-four Trade Commissioners abroad, are working in Empire centres. They are familiar with the demands of the people among whom they live. Their services and the information they gather are at the command of any Canadian producer or exporter. To get into touch with Trade Commissioners, write the Commercial Intelligence Service, Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa.

When you buy Empire goods, you do a part in making possible greater Canadian exports to these sister countries. Where we sell, we must also buy.

The Empire Opportunity in Manufactured Goods

Of 38 groups of manufactured goods Canada sells the Empire to the total of $178,000,000. It is to be remembered that the Empire imports from all countries these goods to the amount of $2,571,000,000. The British Empire presents a tremendous opportunity for the development of export on these commodities.

BY ROSS FARQUHAR

Friday—Ma was called to the phone this evening & when she came in the room she said to me & Mrs. Gland it is coming over tonight do you think I should ought to put on the Fuculator and be over and replied. Yes I think you better put on something you look like you are a bit chily if you don't put something on.

Saturday—I remember 1 time I heard pa read where sum I read. The love that makes the world so round.

Well today Vincent and me tried smoking a old pipe we found up stairs & all I got to say is that love is the only thing that makes the world so round. Had to miss the pitcher show on acct. I was not feeling so well tonight.

Sunday—Vin & me had about decided to join the Navy when we found out that the sailors had to take a bath every day & help to clean the ship so we decided to stay at home & be business men. Mr. Gland was talking to pa to nite and said that the dr. had told him to drink whiskey and kwinine for his cold, and he didn't no where he could find any kwinine.

Monday—Pa was a telling me to nite that sometimes her teeth shined like pearls. Ant Emmy said that when he was out with Perl. That woman is dumber than she looks even, which is saying a hole lot.

Tuesday—Pa sez he thinks the diverse courts are a good thing for if the court didn't separate some people, the police wud haf to. ma give him a money stair with signified she didn't like his remark.

Wednesday—Pa and me went to the Ball game wen we came home we was talking about the underhand pitcher (the Rockford team had & Ant emmy overhurd us and sed she didn't think it was very honorable for a team to hire an underhand pitcher to play.

Thursday—I called Aggie up tonight and sat her wud she go to the pitcher show with me and she accepted, and sed she wud meet me on the corner at seven P. M. I waited for two hours and she didn't show up so I broke the date. There Ain't no women going to make a fake out of me.
